COUNCIL HOLDS EXTRA MEETING

Hear Complaint of York Street Citizens Regarding Dust and Mud. Also Decide to Grant Privilege of Siding Extension.

Relief from the excessive mud and dust on York street was promised the residents of that thoroughfare at a special meeting of the Town Council held on Tuesday evening. The following petition signed by thirty seven residents was presented to Council:

"The undersigned citizens and tax payers of the borough of Gettysburg, residing on York street, respectfully represent:

"That the said York street is now in a very unsatisfactory condition owing to the fact that it is very dusty and in portions has ridges of mud along the sides; that the Regular Army encampment is being held east of town and this street is the only one used in going to and from the encampment, and will be thronged with troops and visitors, and in its present condition will convey a most undesirable impression as to the town's cleanliness and progressiveness.

"That the dust even now arising from the passage of troops and vehicles is so dense that it fills the street like a cloud and renders the lives of the citizens intolerable and unbearable and is certainly a menace to the public health. And unless this condition is remedied it will become worse and intensified as more troops and vehicles use it.

"They therefore respectfully request that some effective remedy be at once applied by the Town Council."

The following were the signers: J. G. Slonaker, W. B. Spalding, E. D. McCleary, J. H. Fagan, George M. Walter, F. R. Shriver, W. A. Hennig, D. C. Stallsmith, J. G. McIlhenney, John F. Walter, A. J. Smith, L. Houck, W. A. Taughinbaugh, O. F. Benner, Ed. Trostle, George C. Gottwald, Pierce Plank, Charles G. Miller, E. M. Wolff, J. E. Schriver, A. C. Basehoar, Emory J. Plank, M. F. Williams, C. B. Shields, Francis Aumen, Mervin E. Crouse, S. R. Andrews, Daniel Shealer, C. S. Reaser, T. E. Beard, C. O. Robert, C. A. Williams, F. Cunningham, J. C. Wierman, W. F. Codori, Ira Ziegler, E. H. Culp.

Mr. Butt moved that a committee of three be appointed to consider the matter and do what they think advisable to remedy the condition. The motion was seconded by Mr. Koch. The motion was carried unanimously and Messrs. Butt, Tawney and Codori appointed on the committee.

This morning the committee visited the street and decided to have it scraped and cleaned. The residents of that part of town will then be asked to have it sprinkled or kept in condition, if possible, in some other way.

Following the reading of a request from the Western Maryland railroad asking for permission to extend their station siding in order to accommodate this summer's crowds Mr. Butt presented the following:

"In pursuance of the request on the part of the Western Maryland Railroad Company for the privilege of extending what is known as passing siding switch westward from its present location near Carlisle street to near the points of the switch of the Reading Railway and in view of the probability of the extraordinary tax placed upon the Western Maryland in attempting to land its passengers in the town during the present encampment and also for the purpose of facilitating their removal from the town, I move that temporary permission be granted to the Western Maryland Railroad to extend what is known as passing siding switch westward from its present location near Carlisle street to a point near the switch of the Reading Railroad Company upon the following conditions, viz:

"First that the Western Maryland Railroad Company agree to cover up the ties and rails on Railroad street so that it will be entirely safe for the use of pedestrians as well as for teaming purposes.

"Second; that the Western Maryland Railroad Company restore said switch to its present condition on or before the first day of October next and that the borough of Gettysburg reserve all legal rights and remedies which it now possesses in reference to the removal of passing siding switch herein referred to and this grant shall not be operative until the bond hereinafter provided for shall be approved.

"Third; that the Western Maryland Railroad Company shall indemnify and save harmless the borough of Gettysburg from all damages that may result, against all suits or claims for damages that may be made against the borough of Gettysburg by any person or persons during the period of time that said switch shall be extended as requested and for the purpose of protecting said borough against said

BUSY TIMES AT MANEUVER CAMP

Final Preparations for Arrival of Large Bodies of Troops. Five Thousand under Canvas on Friday Camp News.

There is an air of expectancy and readiness at the big maneuver camp east of town and everything points to busy times upon the arrival of the troops Thursday and Friday. There was much disappointment in town when the Twenty Ninth Infantry failed to arrive this morning but they will come from Heildersburg tomorrow deciding to stay there to "wash up" for the final day's journey. They were not scheduled to arrive before June 30.

The arrival of the remainder of the troops will follow rapidly and on Friday evening there should be between 5000 and 6000 men under canvas.

Bridadier General W. W. Wotherpoon, who will command the encampment, arrived in town on the Western Maryland on Tuesday evening and after supper at the Eagle went to camp where he found things all ready for his reception. There was no formality upon reaching the camp. General Wotherpoon's headquarters have been placed near the "Hospital Woods" where Company C Hospital Corps has gone into camp.

The Hospital Corps detail arrived on Tuesday afternoon under command of Captain W. F. Wickline and at once commenced getting things in shape. They have the major portion of the woods and will be in an ideal place for the treatment of the sick of the camp. All cases will be taken there, militia as well as Regulars.

At the big camp everything is being rushed along. Supplies are being hurried from one part of camp to another while the wagons make numerous trips to town for various things. The 39th wagons were in Gettysburg this morning to take out to Heildersburg supplies for horses and men.

Visitors are numerous and the few troops which arrived on Sunday have had hundreds of people in their camps. Refreshment and souvenir stands are placed all along the road in the vicinity of camp and ice cream wagons may be seen going through the place and doing a big business. On all sides there is business or work of one kind or another and camp is an interesting place.

A very pleasant surprise party was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John K. McIlhenney in honor of their daughter Mary's birthday. NO SHUTTLE TRAINS damages and the removal of said extended switch as per agreement that it enter into a bond in the sum of $5000 to the borough of Gettysburg which shall indemnify said borough against said damages and guarantee the removal of the switch so extended."

Officials of the Western Maryland railroad were in Gettysburg on Tuesday and decided that for the benefit of local hackmen it would be best for the railroad not to run the shuttle trains to and from camp as had been planned. This will give local drivers a chance to reap a nice harvest during the maneuver encampment which would all have been taken from them had the railroad run the proposed trains. However, all of the regular trains will stop at the camp site after the formal opening takes place.

The motion was seconded by Mr. Tawney and carried.

The pole supporting the sign at Walter's Theatre was reported to be so close to the fire plug as to interfere with opening the latter. The Secretary was instructed to notify Mr. Walter to have the condition relieved.

YEATTS' store at Bendersville will be closed on Monday, July 4th.

ST. JAMES 16 REFORMED 1

Lutheran Church Stays at Head of Sunday School Base Ball League by Defeating Reformed Team. The Standing.

In a one-sided game on Nixon Field Tuesday evening St. James won from the Reformed team by the score of 16 to 1. The game ceased to be interesting after the third inning, when the Lutherans, with two men out, three men on base and two strikes on the man at bat, were given a life by a muffed third strike, and before the side was retired amassed six runs.

The scoring started right off the reel in the first—McDonnell, first man up for St. James, reached first on an error. The next two men hit safely and two runs were scored after which the side was retired. The Reformed were blanked in their first attempt at bat.

In the second the Lutherans were retired in order in their half, but by two successive hits the Reformed scored a run.

With the score two to one at the beginning of the third everybody was looking for a good game, but when the fusillade came, the interest was gone.

The Lutherans scored two in the fourth one in the sixth and five in the seventh.

Gilbert for the Lutherans pitched a good game. Appler pitched a fair game and had his support not wavered in the third inning the score would have been closer. The features of the game were two lightning double plays by the Reformed team.

The line-up was as follows:

Lutheran—Beard, c, Gilbert, p, Sachs 1b, J. Zinn 2b, Wright ss, R. Zinn 3b, Schriver rf, McDonnell cf, Patterson lf.

Reformed—Harner, c, Appler p, Rupp 1b, Kendelhart 2b, Swope ss, Kendelhart 3b, Butt rf, McClain cf, Myers lf.

Lutherans 2 6 2 0 1 5—16
Reformed 0 1 0 0 0—1

The standing of the teams in the league follows:

	Won	Lost	P. C.
St. James	2	0	1.000
Catholic	1	0	1.000
Reformed	1	1	.500
United Brethren	0	0	.000

FOR JULY 4 WOUNDS

Health Commissioner Dixon has completed all arrangements for the free distribution of tetanus anti-toxin for use in cases of poor children in Pennsylvania injured by explosives on the Fourth of July. L. M. Buehler will distribute it in Gettysburg.

The anti-toxin will be supplied at sixty-six points in the State. These points have been so selected that there will be a station within 24 hours reach of any place in Pennsylvania. It is necessary that the anti-toxin be administered within forty-eight hours after the wound has been inflicted. Any physician can secure the State's tetanus anti-toxin free upon application to one of the distributing stations and upon certifying that it is for the treatment of a person too poor to pay.

Dr. Dixon urges the necessity of prompt use of the anti-toxin in case of explosive wounds in order to ward off lock jaw. "Do not consider any such wound trivial," he says. "Send for a physician at once. If he cannot be secured promptly, wash out the wound thoroughly in the meantime and apply a hot antiseptic."

SALT WATER.

Deep Seas Are More Saline Than Those That Are Shallow.

The density of sea water depends upon the quantity of salt matter it contains. The proportion is generally about 3 or 4 per cent, though it varies in different places. The ocean contains more salt in the southern than in the northern hemisphere, and the Atlantic contains more than the Pacific. The greatest proportion of salt in the Pacific is in the parallels of 22 degrees north latitude and 17 degrees south latitude. Near the equator it is less, and in the polar seas it is least, from the melting of the ice.

The saltness varies with the seasons in these regions, and the fresh water, being lighter, is uppermost. Rain makes the surface of the sea fresher than the interior parts, and the influx of rivers renders the ocean less salt at their estuaries.

Deep seas are more saline than those that are shallow, and inland seas communicating with the main are less salt, from the rivers that flow into them. To this, however, the Mediterranean is an exception, owing to great evaporation and the influx of salt currents from the Black sea and the Atlantic. The water in the strait of Gibraltar at the depth of 670 fathoms is four times as salt as that at the surface. St. James' Gazette.

Lore of the Clover.

Any one who carries about a four leaved clover will be lucky and will have the power of discovering ghosts or evil spirits. With it under the pillow the lover may insure dreams of the beloved one. A fragment in the shoe of a traveler insures a safe journey. Of the five leaved clover it is declared that if it be worn on the left side of a maiden's dress or fastened behind the hall door the Christian name of the first man who enters will be the same as that of the future husband. The power of the four leaved shamrock for good is familiar to all from Lover's pretty and once popular song, the speaker in which pictures what she would do should she find the magic plant:

I would play the enchanter's part and scatter bliss around, And not a tear or aching heart should in the world be found.

Gypsy Woman Promised Lad Candy to Go With Her.

Newburgh, N. Y., June 29.—The three-year-old son of Mrs. Fred Lancaster Poag, daughter of De Forest Marshall, a well-to-do real estate dealer of Middle Hope, was left by his mother standing in front of a toy store. During her absence a gypsy woman persuaded the lad to go with her by promising to buy him some candy.

Miss Isabelle Wiseberg saw the episode from the window of the store where she is employed. She followed and kept the strange woman and child in sight until Mrs. Poag appeared. When the would-be kidnapper was overtaken by Mrs. Poag she released the child and fled. In her joy of the moment over recovering her little son Mrs. Poag forgot about the woman who disappeared.

NEW OATH FOR KING BEFORE COMMONS

Bill Framed to Remove Offence to Catholics.

London, June 29.—Premier Asquith introduced in the house of commons the promised bill changing the form of the religious declaration required of the sovereign upon his coronation. In the proposed text the doctrine of the Catholic church is not singled out for repudiation, but it is simply affirmed that the sovereign is a faithful Protestant.

The paragraph is thus made to read: "I do solemnly and sincerely in the presence of God, profess, testify and declare that I am a faithful member of the Protestant church as by law established in England, and I shall, according to the true intent of the enactment which secured Protestant succession to the throne of my realm, uphold and maintain said enactments to the best of my powers and according to law."

After a short debate the declaration measure passed its first reading by a vote of 383 to 42. The old oath declared the sovereign's disbelief in the doctrine of transubstantiation and denounced the adoration of the Virgin Mary or any other saint as practiced by the church of Rome as superstitious and idolatrous prejudice.

HEINZ PAID LAWYERS $800,000

Stanchfield's Princely Fee For Defending "Copper King."

KNOWN AS LAWYER'S LAWYER

One-Time Democratic Candidate For Governor of New York Holds Record as Recipient of Huge Fees.

New York, June 29.—It was learned that John B. Stanchfield received a check for $800,000 from Fritz Augustus Heinze, the largest fee ever received in a criminal case.

Mr. Stanchfield was special counsel for Heinze when the "Copper King" was put on trial on charges of over-certification and misapplication of the funds of the Mercantile National bank while president of that institution.

Fighting like a major for Heinze's acquittal, Mr. Stanchfield secured it, after a masterly summing up.

As a receiver of retainers, Stanchfield, who is known as "the lawyer's lawyer," easily leads recipients of big legal fees, such as Samuel Untermyer, William Nelson Cromwell and Judge James B. Dill, who left a lucrative civil practice five years ago to become a judge in the court of errors and appeals in New Jersey.

Heinze said it cost him $1,000,000 to secure an acquittal, besides the enormous amount lost in depreciation of securities on account of his trial.

His case had been before the courts for more than two years.

Mr. Stanchfield, who comes from Elmira, recently received a fee of more than $100,000 in the settlement of the Hewitt estate. He also received large amounts for the defense of Charles R. Helke, convicted secretary of the sugar trust.

Candidate For Governor.

In 1900 Mr. Stanchfield was Democratic candidate for governor. Four years before he was Democratic leader of the assembly. For work at Albany he was paid nearly $300,000 as fees by insurance interests in four years, it is said. He has never appeared as attorney of record for any of his clients, it is declared, but is retained as special counsel.

William Nelson Cromwell, in the Panama canal case, received at least $200,000. And general opinion has it that the sum ran well toward a million, say about $700,000.

Samuel Untermyer, for services rendered in bringing about a merger of the Boston Consolidated Mining company and the Utah Copper company got a fee generally estimated at $800,000, but part of it was in copper stock.

Judge Dill is said to have received $1,000,000 for settling the affairs of the Carnegie Steel company.

ROOSEVELT AT HARVARD

Joins His Old Classmates at Annual Commencement.

Boston, June 29.—Theodore Roosevelt, Harvard '89, was unable to come to Boston in time to participate in the outing of his class, but he joined his old college friends when the class held its reunion at the Algonquin club in this city.

The ex-president was requested to address the membership of the Harvard Law School Alumni association. He accepted the invitation and was greeted with applause when he entered.

Colonel Roosevelt expressed his gratification at being at Harvard again and referred to the memorial tablets in the Union to the Harvard soldiers who fell in the Spanish-American War. It was pleasant to know, he said, that Harvard always was ready when the country called for men for military or civic service.

After a short walk about the college yard Colonel Roosevelt visited the Porcelain club and one or two other smaller clubs. He refused to talk with the newspaper men concerning his plans. He will head the alumni parade into Memorial hall this afternoon and will speak briefly at the commencement dinner. He will not have any part in the commencement exercises, although it is presumed that he will be in attendance.

A SERIOUS DINER.

The Way the Great Emperor Charles V. Ate His Meals.

The diary of a German gentleman, Bartholomew Sawstrow, who lived in the time of the Emperor Charles V., gives us a good idea of the gastronomic customs of those times. Sawstrow's description of the table habits of the greatest ruler in his day is very interesting.

Young princes and counts served the repast. There were invariably four courses of six dishes. The emperor had no one to carve for him. He began by cutting his bread in pieces large enough for one mouthful, then attacked his plate. He used his fingers while he held the plate under his chin with the other hand.

When he felt thirsty he made a sign to the "doctor" standing by the table; then they went to the sideboard for two silver flagons and filled a goblet which held about a measure and a half. The emperor drained it to the last drop, practically at one draft.

During the meal he never uttered a syllable, scarcely smiled at the most amusing sallies of the jesters behind his chair, finally picked his teeth with quills and, after washing his hands, retired to a window recess, where anybody could approach him with a petition.

PINCHOT CAN'T BE CANDIDATE

Former Forester Ineligible For Governor of Pennsylvania.

NOT CITIZEN OF THE STATE

Movement of Independents to Nominate Roosevelt's Friend Falls Flat When It Is Learned He Has No Voting Right in State.

Milford, Pa., June 29.—Reports from Pittsburg that an independent movement had been started there to nominate Gifford Pinchot for governor of Pennsylvania fell flat when Mr. Pinchot himself declared that he did not claim and had not established a legal voting residence in this state.

The report from Pittsburg was to the effect that independent Republicans and Democrats in that section had determined upon nominating Mr. Pinchot for governor because of their dissatisfaction with the results of the Democratic state convention at Allentown, when C. La Rue Munson quit the race, and the Republican state convention at Harrisburg.

Mr. Pinchot, the former chief forester of the United States, is at Grey Towers, the home of his father, James W. Pinchot.

"Mr. Pinchot, there is a report from Pittsburg that there is an independent movement there to nominate you for governor of Pennsylvania. Have you heard of it?" he was asked.

"I have not," was the former forester's reply.

"Do you have a voting residence in Pennsylvania?"

"My residence is in New York," he replied; "that is it was in New York, but I am at liberty now to change it."

"Where did you vote last?"

"In New York."

"When did you vote in New York last?"

"At the last election, last November."

"Do you claim a legal residence in Pennsylvania?"

"I do not."

"If you were nominated for governor and could establish a legal residence, would you accept?"

"I won't talk about that. I have nothing to say on such subjects."

The clerk of the county commissioners of Pike county, of which Milford is the county seat, also declared that Mr. Pinchot had no legal residence there. He declared that Mr. Pinchot, to the best of his knowledge, had never voted in Pike county and certainly had not in the last nine years. He was most positive on this point.

The movement reported from Pittsburg was based on the assertion that Mr. Pinchot had a legal voting residence with his father at Milford, Pa., and, therefore, was eligible to the governorship. The plan announced was to hold a meeting of Independents, Democrats and Republican parties in Carnegie hall. The nomination of Mr. Pinchot, it was said, was to follow.

It was asserted that Pinchot, who is a strong Roosevelt advocate, would have the backing of Colonel Roosevelt in his campaign.

Gifford Pinchot's father, James W. Pinchot, lives at Milford, Pa. His home there being known as Grey Towers. He is now retired from business. Gifford is a descendant of French Huguenots who settled in Pennsylvania.

The plan was to ask W. H. Berry, of Chester, to be Pinchot's reformer, D. Clarence Gibbons, of Philadelphia, the candidate for lieutenant governor.

PLEDGES KEPT, SAYS ELLIS

Taft's Ohio Manager Sounds the Campaign Keynote.

Washington, June 29.—Wade H. Ellis, chairman of the state Republican committee of Ohio, who was sent there by President Taft to carry the state for the party, gave out a statement in which he outlined the platform on which the Republican party will seek the suffrages of the people in the fall campaign.

Ellis made his statement national in scope. He said in part:

"The Republican party promised a revision of the tariff, adopting the principle of maximum and minimum rates and providing for such adjustment of schedules as would fairly represent the difference between cost of production here and abroad, together with a reasonable profit to American industry. The extraordinary session which met March 15, 1909, passed a tariff bill designed to accomplish these ends and establish a customs court to enforce the law.

"We promised postal savings banks. The act providing for them was approved by the president June 25, 1910.

"We promised the further regulation of the trusts and monopolies. That promise has been kept."

AIRSHIP LANDS BURDEN IN TREES

First Passenger Craft Falls Without Injuring Occupants.

Dusseldorf, June 29.—The airship Deutschland landed in the branches of a clump of trees near Burg, in the Teutoburger forest. None of the passengers or crew was injured. The airship was slightly damaged.

The Deutschland left Dusseldorf for an excursion intended by Count Zeppelin to demonstrate that it could be navigated under unfavorable weather conditions.

A stiff breeze was blowing when the craft left her moorings. She sailed over the towns of Elberfeld and Solingen, fifteen miles from Dusseldorf, and then apparently was driven by the wind in this direction.

This place is seventy miles north of Dusseldorf, and the airship reached here flying with the wind. When over the city the pilot attempted to bring his craft about and after some maneuvering headed for Munster.

This course was held for some time, but eventually the Deutschland was forced back on her track until she was again above the town.

To observers it appeared that two of the airship's motors were disabled and that only one was working properly.

After jockeying in the air without power or stability to land safely, efforts were given up and, apparently beyond the operator's control, the Deutschland settled toward the earth, finally landing in a clump of trees.

MADNESS HALTS TRIAL

Berlin, June 29.—The trial of the famous beauty, Frau Von Schoenbeck Weber, for the instigation of the murder of her former husband, Major Von Schoenbeck, came to an abrupt and dramatic close when the woman became a raving maniac.

The trial was halted and the beautiful young woman sent to a madhouse. She was charged with having induced her favorite, Captain Von Goeben, to murder Von Schoenbeck, who was eighteen years older than she.

Von Goeben committed suicide. The trial has been a national sensation and all of those concerned were of high birth.

HISSES FOR JUDGE WHO FREES GRICE

Student Suspected of Infanticide is Released.

NINE WITNESSES HEARD

Prosecution Failed to Prove a Crime Had Been Committed—No Trace of Baby Has Been Found.

Lancaster, Pa., June 29.—Hisses that were audible all over the courtroom greeted Judge Hassler when he discharged James Cleveland Grice, honor student of the Millersville State Normal school, who was held in the Lancaster county jail on a charge of having feloniously disposed of his infant child.

The child and mother disappeared on June 16 last, but traces of the woman were found and quickly lost again. No trace of the child has been discovered.

After his discharge Grice would say nothing, except that he had no idea of the whereabouts of his wife and child.

Hisses Greet Decision.

The hisses were quickly subdued, and Judge Hassler hastened to explain that the burden of the proof was on the commonwealth and it was for the prosecution to prove a corpus delicti to show that a crime had been committed and that the defendant was connected in any way with the crime. The testimony that had been presented, he ruled, had failed to do this.

When court convened the big room was nearly filled owing to the widespread attention the case has attracted. The commonwealth had subpoenaed a long list of witnesses to prove that the circumstances were of such a suspicious nature as to warrant the holding of Grice until the affair was satisfactorily explained.

The defense based its contentions on the technical points that a corpus delicti had not been established and the accused had in no way been connected with any crime.

The court appeared to favor the defense that no testimony that did not point to the establishment of a crime. This the district attorney admitted he could directly not do.

Nine Witnesses Heard.

After hearing nine witnesses the court ordered that the prisoner be discharged on the writ. The feeling that exists in the public mind against Grice was shown by the reception of the court's decision by hisses. On the other hand, as soon as the decision was given, Grice was besieged by a large number of his classmates and members of the school, who were effusive in their congratulations and demonstration of the faith in his entire innocence.

At the habeas corpus proceedings it was shown that two hours after Mr. and Mrs. Grice had left their boarding house they registered at a hotel in this city under the name of Rogers, and spent the night there. The child was not with them.

Grice had been under arrest since June 19, first on suspicion of slaying his wife as well as the baby, but since the wife was found to be alive of infanticide.

He is a member of the senior class of the State Normal school at Millersville, and is to graduate with honor, expecting then to go to Johns Hopkins university, Baltimore. He is twenty-two years old.

SINGS ITS DEATH SONG.

A Peculiar Bird Found in the Jungles of South America.

There is a queer bird in the jungles of northern South America which is called the "paaji" by the natives, but is known to science as the galeated curassow. It is chiefly remarkable because it sings its own death song.

It does not really sing, but makes a deep humming noise which sounds very much like the Spanish words "El muerto esta aqui" (the corpse lies here). "It is while uttering this lugubrious chant," said a South American traveler, "that the paaji usually meets its death, for the hunter can then easily track it to its retreat, and it falls a victim, as the Indians say, to its own death song."

If the paaji gets suspicious it immediately ceases humming, and that is a sure indication to the hunter that the bird has seen him or scents danger. In such a case the only thing for the sportsman to do is to remain perfectly still. The bird may become reassured after waiting awhile and again begin to call, "The corpse lies here." It can then be cautiously approached and killed.

If it is only wounded the paaji usually escapes, though it cannot fly much better than the ordinary domestic fowl. It is very fleet of foot and will outrun the hunter until it is lost in the dense undergrowth of the jungle.

In the mating season the male paaji is the most pugnacious of birds and will fight its own kind whenever it meets them. Often the fight ends in the annihilation of both combatants.

SALVE FOR HIS WOUND.

A Struonous Scene That Was Not on the Bill of the Play.

Giovanni Grasso, a Sicilian actor of unusual dramatic energy, was playing in Florence in one of his fiercest parts, where he had to stab his enemy with a dagger. Suddenly, in the heat of his passion, Grasso let the weapon slip out of his hand. It alighted in the pit on a man's head, cutting it slightly.

An indignant member of the audience lunged the knife back to the stage, where it was dexterously caught by Grasso. Raising it aloft in his hand and as if it were accursed, Grasso smashed it in two and then stamped upon it.

Then, with a swift bound, Grasso was in the pit beside the injured man. The next minute he had climbed back to the boards, with the victim in his arms.

After setting him in a chair Grasso threw himself on his knees and began a long entreaty for forgiveness. This was rapidly granted by the much embarrassed playgoer, who on his side begged to be allowed to return to his seat.

But this was not to be until Grasso, weeping copiously, had bestowed no fewer than fifty resounding kisses on the man's bashing cheeks.

The action was greeted with loud cheers, and after Grasso had gracefully bowed, his thanks the play was resumed and successfully concluded.—London Express.

Perils of the Hair Cut.

"Ouch!" cried the barber and something besides. He stuck the end of his thumb in his mouth and began sucking it.

"Cut your hair?" asked the man in the chair.

"No; it's an ingrowing hair," replied the barber—"an ingrowing hair under my thumb nail."

The man in the chair laughed.

"Fact," said the barber. "It isn't an uncommon thing either. In giving a customer a hair cut a bit of hair often lodges under the finger nail, and if it isn't removed it is apt to fester and get sore. Sometimes we don't even know it's there until it begins to get in its blue work. It hurts like the dickens sometimes. If you don't believe me, ask any barber and he'll tell you the same thing."—New York Times.

A Gun Club's Treasure.

Thirteen million cartridge shells, the result of eleven years of shooting by the members of a gun club, have been gathered into a huge pile by one of the leading sporting organizations of England. Eleven years ago one of the members conceived the idea of having the members save all their shells and deposit them on the pile. The shell bank is now the club's most prized possession. If a single man were to shoot one cartridge a second day and night it would take him about twenty-five years to discharge 13,000,000. The club maintains a vigilant guard over its precious shell pile.

Filial Repartee.

Richard Brinsley Sheridan, who was always distressed for money, was one day backing his face with a dull razor when he turned to his eldest son and said:

"Tom, if you open any more oysters with my razor I'll cut you off with a shilling."

"Very well, father," said Tom, "but where will you get the shilling?"

The Prize Holder.

"I understand you have a fine track team here," said the visitor to the man who was showing him over the college campus. "What individual holds most of the medals?"

"The town pawnbroker," answered his guide after due deliberation.—New York Journal.

PIMPLES

"I tried all kinds of blood remedies which failed to do me any good, but I have found the right thing at last. My face was full of pimples and black-heads. After taking Cascarets they all left. I am continuing the use of them and recommending them to my friends. I feel fine when I rise in the morning. Hope to have a chance to recommend Cascarets."

THE GETTYSBURG NATIONAL BANK'S NEW BUILDING

"The Bank of Gettysburg was chartered as a State Bank April 29, 1814.

It was to have a capital of 7,000 shares of stock, of the par value of $50 a share, making its capital stock when paid in full $350,000.00. Its first Board of Directors met May 26, 1814.

Alexander Cobean was elected the first President and John B. McPherson the first Cashier. The business of the bank was conducted in the house of the cashier from the day the bank opened until April, 1909.

Nov. 16, 1864, the stockholders voted to change from a State to a National Bank. The new association is the Gettysburg National Bank.

The capital stock is $145,150, or 2,903 shares of the par value of $50 a share.

The charter is dated Nov. 1864. The first election was held Jan. 10, 1865, and William McSherry, Henry Wirt, Wm. D. Himes, Wm. Young, James J. Wills, George Swope, Lewis M. Motter, Marcus Sampson and David Kendlehart were elected the first Board of Directors. George Swope was elected President and J. D. Carson, Cashier.

The new bank is built on the lot of ground on which was located the original bank building. The lot fronts 60 feet on York street and runs back to an alley 181 1/2 feet. The ground was owned by John B. McPherson from 1814 to 1858, when it was purchased by the bank.

The new bank building is 45 feet front, 86 feet deep and 32 feet high to the apex. The exterior is built of Troy White Granite from New Hampshire. The front is four cut finish and the sides rock face.

The style is colonial, which is carried out in every detail, as also in its furnishings.

The building sets 7 feet back from the building line and 7 feet from the adjoining properties. The approach is by a portico. The portico is 25 feet long and 8 feet wide, and is formed by four shafts of white granite—monoliths having bases 2 feet 6 inches in diameter and being 22 feet 6 inches high and weighing 7 tons each. It is finished with a ceiling of portier paneled copper. The front doors are solid bronze—6 feet wide, 10 feet 6 inches high and weigh 500 pounds each.

There are two large windows in the front and four on each side 4 by 8 feet. The entrance to the building is through a vestibule of mahogany and glass—having two doors opening into the corridors. The front corridor is 9 feet 6 inches and the side corridors are 7 feet wide. The interior height of the ceiling is 22 feet. The working space of the bank is 27 by 35 feet.

MURPHY'S OPINION

Of all the fight experts who are at Reno covering the Johnson Jeffries fight, none has attracted as much attention as Mike Murphy, the world famous trainer of athletes.

He is there for the Philadelphia North American, and when he pronounced James J. Jeffries in fit condition to give a battle to his huge colored antagonist, the opinion was flashed all over the country and quoted by all writers, because it is known that in the matter of physical condition his word is final.

Murphy's training articles will appear daily in The North American, including Sunday and Monday morning. On Tuesday morning will appear his comment on the fight.

THE WORD "GOWN."

It First Came Into Use in the Fourteenth Century.

Female costume in the tenth century was classical in its simplicity. The women wore long, loose, flowing skirts reaching to the feet and a draped "cote," or upper garment. Chaucer, who died in 1400, when Henry IV. was king, frequently uses the word cote. In the "Canterbury Tales" he depicts the sergeant-at-law as wearing a "medley cote," which no doubt means a coat of many colors, while the miller he describes as wearing "a whyte cote."

It was in the fourteenth century that the word "gown" first came into use. An anonymous author in no mild words finds fault with the fashion of his days. He writes that "the commoners were besotted in excess of apparel, in wide surcoats reaching to their loins, some in a garment reaching to their heels, close before and strutting out on the side, so that on the back they make men seem women, and these they call by a ridiculous name—gown."

As early as the twelfth century women's cotes were made with trains, and in the first quarter of the thirteenth century a bishop moralizes early on their vanity for wearing trained cotes, some of which contained seven ell and a half. Westminister Gazette.

The walls of the corridors have a base of Verde Antique. Ver mont green marble and wainscoting of 7 feet of Alabama Cream marble, with a cornice of 9 inches of South African mahogany. The floors are made of Grey Knoxville, Tennessee marble of one foot square blocks.

The exterior of the counters is made of the same marble as the side walls and supports the grill work, which is of brush brass and finished with opaline glass, mahogany pillars and cornice. The counters are of mahogany. The corridors are furnished with four glass endorsing desks, two solid mahogany writing tables and suitable chairs. There are four mahogany writing desks for the officials of the bank in the working space.

The Cashier's room is in the working space, is furnished handsomely and is 9 by 15 feet.

The President's room is near the Cashier's and well furnished. The rear part of the first floor has a gentlemen's waiting room—14 by 11 feet, clerks' room—8 by 11 feet and a Ladies' Reception Room 14 by 11 feet. These rooms are all handsomely furnished and each has its own toilet. On the same floor there are two coupon rooms, one public and one private telephone booth—with local and long distance phones.

The vault is 17 x 14 feet. It is made of concrete, 21 inches thick, lined with steel plates 1 1/2 inches thick and covered on the exterior with Alabama cream marble. Each department is separate. The bank vault has a steel safe with double combination locks, requiring two persons to open it. The lock box department has 400 lock boxes which can only be opened when the owner of the box and the bank officials are both present with their keys. The owner is the only person who has access to the box and a private room is given him to examine his papers. The boxes are free to patrons of the bank and the owner retains the key in his care. The inner doors of the vault are securely locked and the outer doors are 7 inches thick, having time locks with the latest improvements. The vaults were built by the York Safe and Lock Company. They are a combination of security, art and science. To the right side of the vault a marble stairway leads to the second floor, over the rear of the bank.

On the second floor there is a committee room—15x16 feet, a hall, a coat room and the Directors' room—21x17 feet. The Board Room is beautifully furnished. The mahogany mantle and Directors' table are worth a visit. The balcony on the second floor gives a charming view of the corridors and working space. The electric and gas fixtures are in keeping with the building and furniture and are made of brush brass.

The floors of the working space and rooms are concrete, covered with maple.

The building, the furniture, the fixtures and everything about the bank impresses the visitor with its usefulness, solidity, harmony and good taste.

The officers take great pleasure in having everybody come to see their new bank building. The bank took possession of its new bank last Thursday and business began in the new building last Friday, June 10. You will be cordially welcomed and shown through the new building. It will be a pleasant visit. Come and see it.

The Building Committee was Wm. McSherry, Esq., Donald P. McPherson, Esq., and Walter H. O'Neal, M. D.

The architect was Herman Miller. W. H. Johns was the general contractor.

The officers of the bank are:—Wm. McSherry, President; Thos. G. Neely, Vice President; D. P. McPherson, Counsel; E. M. Bender, Cashier; J. W. Kendlehart, Teller and Bookkeeper; H. C. Picking, Discount Clerk; Irvin L. Taylor, Paying Teller; Chas. W. Stock, Receiving Teller; Reuben Rupp, Janitor.

The Directors are:—Wm. McSherry, Lawyer; John A. Swope, Physician; Thos. G. Neely, Gentleman; H. P. Bigham, Gentleman; Robert M. Wirt, Bank President; D. P. McPherson, Lawyer; N. C. Trout, Physician; C. L. Longsdorf, Bank President; Walter H. O'Neal, Physician.

easy to bring farm produce along with the milk every morning. Why not have a store? Within a few days a co-operative organization with a capital of $25,000 was formed. Only a part of this was used at the beginning, but the store has been so profitable that the stock is quoted at $150 and the cash value of its resources is around $35,000.

Once a year the stockholders meet in the town hall, hear the reports, declare a good dividend and elect officers. No one is permitted to hold more than $100 worth of stock, and this entitles him to one vote. By the articles each stockholder binds himself to sell all of his grain and produce to the Golden Rule company, which is its incorporated name.

The business is largely done by credit. Farm produce brought in is credited to the man who furnishes it, and he is debited with whatever he buys of groceries and dry goods. Cash settlements are made at the end of each month.

The company owns a grain elevator, but this is at Alda, on the line of the nearest railroad. A few years ago after a full discussion it was agreed that as there was no hope of the railroad coming to Upland the company ought to buy Alda. It did, taking in the elevator, stockyards—everything except the town's name.

The telephone company serves over 4,000 persons, most of them farmers. It is one of the largest concerns in the state. It is purely mutual, with no capital stock, and this serves to make certain the retention of the control in the hands of the farmers. Fifteen or twenty trunk lines radiate from the store building in Upland.

The officers contend that the success of the enterprise lies in the fact that no fixed rental is charged, each owner of a telephone paying a proportionate expense of operation and maintenance. Each farmer must buy outright his phone. These, it is insisted, must be long distance instruments. They cost about $10 apiece. The cost of becoming a stockholder—that is, of making a connection—is $10. Thereafter he is a stockholder, and all receipts from tolls are credited to him proportionately. The officers of the company are paid only for the actual time they devote to the business. The first year's cost is about $25. This includes instrument, connection and dues. After that the cost is about $5 a year.

Growing Corn For Cob Pipes.

Probably not one smoker in a hundred who likes the "real American pipe"—the corn-cob—is aware of the fact that many acres in Ohio, Illinois, Missouri and Nebraska are devoted to raising corn for the special purpose of producing cobs suitable for fashioning into pipe bowls. The grain itself is marketed, of course, but the cobs on which it grows is the real harvest and is cut carefully into proper lengths, smoothed and polished, the soft inner pulp being gouged out by specially constructed machinery. The corn-cob pipe goes to every country in the world where men smoke and is especially in favor in Australia and New Zealand, where it is regarded as characteristically American, because it suggests the idea of Yankee ingenuity. The brier is the favorite with Englishmen, who are probably the greatest pipe smokers in the world.—Chicago Inter Ocean.

Waiting For The Note.

An English churchman tells the following:

"At one of our cathedrals the minor canon was ill and could not sing. A suffragan bishop had a good voice and volunteered to sing the litany. 'Go,' he said to the vergers, 'and tell the organist that I will sing the litany and ask him to give me the reciting note.' 'Please, sir,' said the vergers to the organist, 'the bishop has sent me to you to say he will sing the litany.' 'All right,' said the organist. Seeing the vergers remain, he said, 'You need not stay.' 'Please, sir,' the bishop asked me to ask you if you would give him a something—I didn't quite catch—note.' 'You mean the reciting note.' 'That's it, sir; that's it.' Seeing the vergers still remaining, he said, 'You need not stay.' To which the vergers said, 'Please, sir, shall I take it to his lordship?'"

Camel Carriages.

Camel carriages are not common conveyances in most parts of India, but on the great trunk road leading to Delhi they are frequently to be seen. They are large, double story wagons, drawn sometimes by one, sometimes by two or even three camels, according to their size. Iron bars which give them a cage-like appearance were originally introduced as a defense against robbers, and the carts were probably also used for the conveyance of prisoners.

Har Sad Fate.

"What a beautiful little girl she is!" "Yes, and, just think, she'll have to marry a mere American unless her father chinks up and exhibits more ability as a suitor than he has ever shown thus far."—Chicago Record-Herald.

HIS STUPID LITTLE WIFE

By ESTELLE MARSH

Copyright, 1910, by American Press Association.

They were walking together on the riverside.

Both were young, and one was beautiful.

The crown of her hat was big enough to fit the head of the colossal statue of Athena on the Acropolis at Athens. They were talking of love and marriage. Most young couples while dawdling talk either of love and marriage or platonic friendship, the man taking the ground that it is impossible, the girl that it is the most desirable form of affection between the sexes.

"As for me," he said, "when I marry I prefer a girl whom I can love with my whole heart and soul."

"Then you must get one with a strong personality, good judgment and an excellent mind."

"I wish nothing of the kind. Give me a girl with a pink and white complexion, a pretty pair of rose lips and not too much brain."

"Well, I declare!"

"She must not only be stupid, but must prove herself stupid. No; I will not even trust her to do that. I will prove her stupid myself."

"You don't mean what you say. How could you love such a girl?"

"I love her already."

She cast a quick glance at him, then bent her eyes to the ground. She had been under the impression that he had been falling in love with her. She was at a loss to know what this meant. Had she a rival?

"A man doesn't wish the counterpart of himself in a woman. Her intellectual gifts repel him; her feminine stupidity delights him. If she is strong he looks upon her as he would a man. If she is weak he longs to protect and comfort her."

"This dunce that you love, is she?"

"She is not a dunce judged by a proper standard. There must be one standard for men and another for women. A man—a real man—wouldn't know how to take care of a baby—at least he wouldn't do it the right way. When I was a boy my mother left me one afternoon to mind my little sister, eight months old. I wished to go and play. If I could put the baby to sleep I would be free. I blew in the little thing's eyes, forcing her to shut them. I kept up this process till she went to sleep. You see, I didn't know anything about babies."

She thought awhile before saying: "It seems to me that was rather clever for a boy."

"But you couldn't lay it down as a recipe for putting babies to sleep."

"No, I suppose it wouldn't do always."

"Will you kindly tell me," he asked, breaking away from the topic of conversation, "how you women make those big crowned hats stay on the tops of your heads? I don't understand why they don't slip down over your eyes. If I wore one of them I'd have to cut holes to see through."

"Well, you see, we women have a lot of hair and all that to fill them up."

"Oh, I supposed there was some patent contrivance for the purpose."

"We have hatpins, you know."

"You mean those rapier with coachman's buttons for hilts?"

"They must be long to go through the large crowns."

"I see. Would you mind unsheathing yours and letting me see the inside of your hat?"

She removed the hatpins and, taking off her hat, showed him the inner crown.

"Why, the diameter is two or three inches less within than it is without!"

"I don't understand you."

"This part inside is smaller than any man's hat. There is a false inner crown."

"There is a difference, isn't there?"

"I should say so."

"I didn't know that."

"Better put it on again and the sword through. It might fall down over your eyes."

"I dare say," pouting, "you consider me very stupid."

"I have not left it to you to prove yourself so. I have done it myself. You know I said I would."

"In the case of the creature you wished to marry."

"There is a method in my madness."

"Will you kindly explain wherein the method lies?"

"I told you I wished a stupid girl for a wife. Could there be anything more stupid than a girl wearing one of these hats on her head and not knowing how it is kept on the top of her head?"

There was a slap with one hand, a caress with the other. She may have been stupid about the hat, but she was bright enough to catch his "method" and, catching it, held her tongue. Indeed, from this point she let him do all the talking. He took her hand and whispered a number of lovely things in her ear.

They had been married long enough for the problems of life to loom up, such as winter coal bills, gas bills, doctor's fees and other items that will always be coming up without being expected. Notwithstanding her stupidity she proved a good manager. But at the end of the first year one day her husband received a bill for a new hat the amount of which astonished him. He remonstrated.

"I thought it very cheap," she said. "Cheap! Are you so stupid as to buy a thing merely because it is cheap?"

"I thought you loved me for my stupidity," she replied, hanging her head.

Quarrels Don't Help the Town.

Too many small towns exhaust their energies in petty quarrels and local rows in which the disputed issues do not amount to a pignone. If all the energy and enterprise that are wasted in getting even and giving an enemy a dig could be put to work for the good of the community these small towns would really amount to something. People who are busy working together for the common good do not have time or inclination to peddle evil reports about their neighbors and to dabble in little quarrels.

SHOULD COPY THIS

We cheerfully copy the following: "I hope that every newspaper in the country will copy this. If they will, they will do worlds of good for thousands of sick people who are now suffering as I did for years with my stomach and kidneys, but thanks to the wonderful medicine that is now doing so much good all over the country, I am liberated from my years of torture and am once more enjoying the great blessing of good health. For several years my back was hurting me most of the time, and I would have to get up from ten to fifteen times every night on account of my kidneys. My food would sour and burn in my stomach and I would bloat and belch until I would get dizzy and nervous. I was badly constipated, and had to be taking something all of the time. If I didn't I was sure to have a bad spell of sick headache. No one knows how much I did suffer, but after taking the great remedy, Root Juice, a short time, I began to improve, and after using about six bottles I am strong and well, and feel like a boy. I am glad to tell every sick person all about it, because I sympathize with those who suffer as I did." L. F. Pratt, South Bend, Ind. It is well known here that Root Juice is certainly a wonderful medicine. It is sold for one dollar a bottle or three bottles for two dollars and a half. People's drug store.
